

to those who say-no-to god:

i believe in in essence utterly incomprehensible god, who can only be known through his with and from essence supernaturally one and ineffably distinct energies; lo, i know him; then men, why do you want fit him within overwhelmingly limited and flawed understanding of fallen men?

my god is unoriginate and eternal; the almighty thrice-holy god; the living creator; you, o, men, who are but a soil, are going reason about him? how arrogant and fool-like.

verily, i tell you, your foundation is sinking sand; yea, your foundation is sinking sand; for if you are not all-knowing, how can you say, there is no god? now, if you were honest, you would say, i don't know; and then i'd tell you, seek god with all your heart and with humbleness of heart; but, am i supposed to reason with unreasonable people? i tell you, nay. if you are not all-knowing, how can you say what is real or true or good? don't you confess, that you are irrational meaningless accident? who are you, to exalt your pretenses, and who are you, that i shall regard you? eh..

o, men, are you not ignorant or/and deluded or/and hypocritical? i love you still, o, adversarial men, with divine love; repent - do not be like a dog, which returns to its vomit; reject degeneracy, embrace right-faith.

all praise to the thrice-holy god, the holy trinity, undivisible and of one essence, the one true god, the father and the son and the spiritholy, of whom i am witness, along with the cloud of witnesses. amen.

further explanation for those according to father's beyond-all-loving-and-considering wisdom: all-precious child, which aligns with immutable laws which we thus far have observed, for non-existence or chaos or whatsoever to self-create into perfect order? or rather sufficiently capable sentience to create perfect order? it would be intellectually dishonest to say first; and if you say, nay both; which is overwhelmingly more probable?

and behold your irrationality: if you say sentience somehow is product from non-sentience, you are altogether making sentience void. henceforth furthermore every person who confesses so, implies that blood-con-shed, or populicide, is of no importance at all; for without good god, morality does not exist; nor ultimate justice; and every person who confesses so, confesses, that in all things, there is no value. and as i have reasoned, without all-knowledge, one cannot claim any knowledge; for how can you know you are not in delusion in your ignorance? rather only solid ground, can be revelation from all-knowing being. and, now, if you ask, how do i know it's your god; then i'm telling you, not that you shall accept my god, rather seek god with all your heart and with humbleness of heart; seek truth with willingness to accept truth as truth reveals own self. and behold, if your sentience is product of sentience, then your creator transcends your mind.

interesting observation: couple neutrons turn water to fusion fuel, and people still blindly say, that universe is accidental. *{reviewed by nuclear engineer with little over decade of professional experience in nuclear power industry}